First of all we'd like to welcome all new members, here in Australia and around the world. Just a reminder, please remember to include your membership number with all correspondence including merchandise forms and competitions.

Well, here it is - the second issue of the fanzine for 1998. What a six months it has been! The completion of the Australian and New Zealand leg of the World Tour, the promotion of the album still going strong throughout the rest of the world and the commencement of the Asian, European and North American section of the concert tour.

Darren and Daniel have barely had a chance to breathe since the beginning of this year - and they will be hard at work entertaining you all until the end of August. Everyone keeps asking us when they will see another Savage Garden album... and the answer is - next year.

The guys can't wait to give you another album, but they have been so busy racking up frequent flyer points around the world, that there has been no time to start recording it! Don't worry though... they will be stopping soon!

In this issue we are doing something a little bit different. We have included a story from the people at Roadshow Music, who are Savage Garden's record company for Australia and New Zealand. They will be giving us an insight into what their first impressions were of Darren and Daniel, and how they have seen them evolve over the last couple of years. As usual we will also be including the Record Happenings, Darren and Daniel's answers to your questions, some great competitions, new photos for your walls and the updated North American tour dates. So enjoy the issue and we will see you again next time! Ed.

As you know The Official Savage Garden Fanzine is the ONLY official Savage Garden fanclub in the world, and you, as members, are part of it. Our lawyers have asked us to include this section in our fanzine so that our members are aware that they are not paying for something illegal and substandard.

The Official Savage Garden Fanzine is based in Brisbane, Australia and is run by family and friends of Darren and Daniel. We do our best to look after our members because we have to answer to Darren and Daniel, who may look nice, but in fact are... (only joking). Just please beware if you participate in "other" Savage Garden fanclubs, especially if they accept "donations". The Official Savage Garden Fanzine is the only supplier of Savage Garden Fanzine Merchandise.

We at the Fanzine are often asked personal questions concerning Darren and Daniel's private lives. We would like to reaffirm their Policy on Privacy.

Darren and Daniel feel very strongly about keeping their private lives private. They feel they give as much as their music and interviews, their home lives are the only things they choose not to speak on and we should not expect it of them.

A quote from Darren on how he feels: "I have tried from the very beginning to leave my family and friends out of the media, for their own protection."

I am a public person, I choose to be a performer and I realise that people want to know about me. My family and my relationships have nothing to do with my music.

These people did not choose a public life and therefore deserve their privacy. I'd like to thank all the fans who have supported me with their many letters, throughout the tour and in life in general. Your faith and love keep me going.

A Wish Came True

I Saw A Future,
 Of Gleaming Tights,
 I Saw The Happiness,
 The Earthly Delites,
 I Saw Two Men,
 One Played One Sang,
 They Brought Music,
 And Happiness Again,
 I Felt Tears,
 When Lights Flashed,
 As The Player Jammed,
 The Singer Deafest,
 I Saw A Sea,
 Of Smiling Faces,
 Of Plentiful Joy,
 The Uniting Of Races,
 I Saw The Future,
 I Saw Two Men,
 They Brought Tears Of Joy,
 And Music Came Again,
 I Saw Sudden Darkness,
 And Off They Flew,
 Out Of Sight,
 To Make Another Wish Come True!

To Daniel...

So tall and handsome with a charming smile,
 he's quiet and sure with a confident style.
 Much more than a star that makes hearts race,
 he's a person with talent and a will to create.
 His name is one that everybody knows,
 of course I'm speaking of Daniel Jones.

Belinda Robinson

My Feelings About SG

I've always thought of them as angels,
 So beautiful and sweet,
 But there's a hard chance to talk to them,
 We'd probably never meet.
 Looking at Darren,
 Feels like looking at a king,
 I'm amazed by his good looks
 and ability to sing.
 Gazing at Daniel,
 Feels like gazing at a star,
 His cute face lights up,
 as he plays his guitar.
 This the only way I can tell them,
 Show them how much I care,
 I love you Savage Garden,
 And will be a fan who's always there.

Selma Grigal

To Darren...

There are so many words,
 I can use to describe the way I feel,
 There aren't so many words,
 that can heal.
 But say you were to be in love,
 with a person you knew you couldn't have,
 And say he were to feel the same way,
 only time got in the way.
 There aren't so many words,
 I can use to say how I feel,
 But there are so many things,
 you can do to help me heal!

The world tour concert continues

Since the conclusion of the Australian and New Zealand tour, Darren and Daniel have been jetting all over the world promoting and touring their album. 'Truly Madly Deeply' is still proving to be a huge song overseas, and they have been performing it on shows such as The Jay Leno Show (USA), The Rosie O' Donnell Show (USA) and Top Of The Pops (London), just to name a few. Savage Garden also performed 'Truly Madly Deeply' at The Blockbuster Movie Awards in Los Angeles, which was a complete celebrity fest. Half of Hollywood turned out for the occasion and Darren and Daniel found themselves mingling with the likes of Julia Roberts, Janet Jackson, Billy Zane, Chris O'Donnell, Arnold Schwarzenegger, Nicolas Cage and Minnie Driver.

You'll remember that in the last issue we featured the photographs from the Australian and New Zealand leg of 'The Future Of Earthly Delires' World Tour. Since that time, the tour has been renamed the 'To The Moon And Back' Tour to coincide with the single re-release of 'To The Moon And Back' in the U.S. True to form, Savage Garden have shot yet another video clip for 'To The Moon And Back'. The new video has a much more urban feel to it and was once again directed by Adolfo Doring (who directed the video for 'Truly Madly Deeply' in Paris).

Savage Garden played to sold out stadium shows throughout Asia, including Japan, Kuala Lumpur, Singapore, Taiwan and India. The funniest incident they had on this trip was in Kuala Lumpur when they arrived at the airport to be met by a police escort. Unfortunately, when their car was about to take off the driver was not looking ahead of him and he knocked the policeman in front of them off his motorbike. Needless to say a lot of hilarity followed this incident, and continued right up until they arrived at their hotel. Darren and Daniel were amazed that the traffic would be stopped and cleared for them to make a speedy gateway to their hotel) - they felt like visiting dignitaries.

Recent happenings

The continuing adventures of Savage Garden

The last stop on the Asian tour was India. It was a massive outdoor concert that was performed before thousands of people. Due to strict censorship laws that are enforced in this country, the whole show needed to be censored and all the lyrics of the songs were screened to ensure that there was nothing that would be deemed inappropriate in them. The authorities also made an announcement prior to the show banning any public displays of affection. If anyone was seen kissing or hugging they would have been arrested. Needless to say, the entire band found this quite astounding... and it made the performance of 'I Can't Make You Love Me' far less romantic as Darren could not even touch Anna's hand.

The next stop for Savage Garden was Monte Carlo for the World Music Awards. It was a blizure feeling for them to have just departed India, which is a country full of such extreme poverty and despair, only to find themselves in the world's most famous playground to the rich and famous - Monte Carlo. Darren and Daniel were presented with an award by Mike Tyson and Mickey Rourke (Darren, obviously feeling very brave, stepped up to Mike Tyson when he met him) for the Highest Selling Australian Group. They also performed 'Truly Madly Deeply' on the show.

After the awards ceremony the entire band went to a party unlike any they have ever experienced. The party was held on a yacht in a picture perfect setting, there were celebrities everywhere and only the most expensive champagne was being drunk. The whole experience was like waking onto the set of a Hollywood film - it was amazing! 8th May was Darren's 26th birthday. The band's management and record company gave him a well deserved day off to celebrate this and it was spent at Eurodisney in one of Darren's favourite cities - Paris.

After Paris they visited Amsterdam, Brussels and Austria - where they did a showcase performance for the public and media at a really cool club that had stone walls and was reminiscent of an underground prison. After Austria it was back to Paris again for another three days of promo, and then another visit to Germany. Whilst in Germany, they performed on a television show in Dortmund called The Dome. This was a major production and also featured Ricky Martin, Ace Of Base and Robyn. It was a huge show that included pyrotechnics... unfortunately, we nearly lost Ian (the drummer) when one of the pyros went off and sparks flew onto his head. He had to drum with one hand and pick the fire out of his hair with the other! Dublin was the start of the sold out

European tour, and it was also the city that Darren was most excited to be visiting. This was of course due to the fact that it is the home town of Bono. They were taken around town by a taxi driver who chatted about Bono and the rest of the band as though they were old friends. The people of Dublin have the same attitude towards U2 that Brisbane have towards Savage Garden - that they are 'just home town boys'. Darren and Daniel also visited U2's club - The Kitchen, which was a fantastic venue that had a glass bottom dance floor complete with resident goldfish underneath. Darren and Daniel both agree that the best show they performed on the European tour was in Germany at the Rock Am Ring Show Day. It was a 30 minute set in front of 40,000 people and the show was completely stripped back. In place of costumes, Darren donned army combat pants and a t shirt and Daniel ensured that the guitars were cranked up to the max. The audience went crazy. They also shared the bill on this day with Bob Dylan, Neil Finn, Genesis, Innaï Coppsie and K's Choice. At the beginning of June they went to Paris to perform on The Hit Machine TV show - it was here that they met the Bee Gees. This was especially exciting for Darren and Daniel, as the Bee Gees asked to meet them and came and visited them in their dressing rooms. As you know, the Bee Gees were originally from Brisbane and when they met Darren and Daniel they congratulated them on their success and compared the rise of Savage Garden to their own rise internationally all those years ago. It was one of those special moments when Darren and Daniel had the chance to meet three truly gifted songwriters who have become icons for our generation.

From Paris they needed to fly to Lisbon for a Sony presentation, but were unable to get a commercial flight. This posed no problem for Sony Music, who proceeded to charter a private jet just for the entire band to make the trip. This was the first time that Darren and Daniel had flown privately, and they have both said that it was one of those moments in life that you need to cherish. One of the rare occasions that they just had to act like "superstars", even if it was just for that flight. The last show on the European leg of the tour was at World Expo '98 in Portugal and then they enjoyed three (extremely needed) weeks off. Before the North American tour commenced on the 24th June.

The first stop for them on the 24th June was in New York to perform a one hour live TV special at The Hard Rock Cafe for VH1. Simply Red, Natalie Imbruglia, Sarah McLachlan and Cyndi Lauper are just a few of the artists who have already recorded live specials for VH1.

The North American tour will finish on the 31st August and Darren and Daniel will be taking a few months off to write and record the second album. They can't wait to get into the studio again, and we've no doubt that the world experiences they have had over the last year will be evident in the new songs.

questions & answers

Q: How long have you been a vegetarian and what made you decide to become one? (Laila Nikolic USA, Judith Scheller-Germany, Lucy Douglas GB)

Darren: About 4 years and there is no religious or moral reason I just really feel that my body works best when I eat certain foods. I don't have a problem with people eating meat, as long as animals are treated humanely. It's just my personal choice not to eat meat.

Q: What is your favourite U2 song? (Jessica Scordis USA, Nadia Muehlebach VIC)

Darren: That's a tough question. But if I had to choose I would probably pick 'With Or Without You'.

Q: How would you describe Daniel? (Franziska Wahren-Germany, Cindy Brading USA)

Darren: Contemplative. Calm. Loyal. Sensitive.

Q: Before playing live, you are surely nervous. What do you do to relax? (Valérie Le Dorven-France)

Darren: I usually steam my voice with a vapouriser before I go on stage and do a vocal warm up and we all hug each other and wish each other a good show. This has become like a routine and I find the routine releases me.

Q: It looks way cool, but what made you decide to cut your hair short? (Samuel Kallenberger-France, Sarah James-Germany, Rachel Tang-Philippines, Onice Byrne-SA, Marela Iago-USA, Nadia Muehlebach VIC, Gabriella Meyer USA, Lydia C. Simatata Indonesia, Nancy Hernandez USA...and many more!)

Darren: I found out when I was in Japan that in some Asian cultures the cutting of the hair symbolises the loss of love or the release of some emotion. All I can say is over the last two years there have been lots of changes in my life and cutting off my hair felt like a new start or a new beginning. I just remember that I was thinking about doing it for about 6 months but was always frightened that it would be too drastic an image change. But I'm really glad that I have done it now and I would never wish my long hair back.

Q: Do you ever play soccer anymore? (Megan Fitzgerald USA)

Daniel: No, but I really miss playing soccer and if I were less busy these days I would definitely take to the field.

Q: Did you really climb Ayers Rock? (Irina Mouratova)

Daniel: Yes, climbing Ayers Rock was one of the greatest experiences I've had travelling our own country. It's amazing what we have in our own backyard and without even really realising it.

Q: Would you ever record songs written by someone else for your album, or do you think it's more special if they're written by yourselves? (Lindsay Kuwahara USA)

Daniel: I think it's a lot better to perform the songs you write yourself. It's a lot more rewarding, especially in terms of being able to express the emotions you felt when you wrote the song. I haven't thought about recording other people's songs.

Q: What was the craziest thing you did or would do for a woman? (Anna Maria Gys-France)

Daniel: I haven't done this, but I think it would be to bring her up onto the stage at a Savage Garden concert and propose to her before Truly Madly Deeply.

Q: Would you guys like to be in a movie some day? (Ike Kawano/Japan)

Darren: Maybe a small character part, but I'm more interested in making films - writing one and being behind the scenes.

Daniel: No, I have found from what we've experienced through video that film making is a very slow and tedious process that I find a little boring.

Q: What is your favourite place/country you have visited so far and why? (Cathy Nguyen/USA, Shirley McDuffie/NDN, Rebecca Fowler/GA, Natasha Prince/UK)

Darren: I have a special place in my heart for New York City. I don't know why, ever since I was a little kid I wanted to go there and it's exactly as I imagined it would be... it feels like it is a city for everyone.

Daniel: Canada for it's similarities to Australia and the Australian people and also for the beautiful scenery and the cold climate.

Q: If you both had to meet one person, who would it be? (Andrea P/China/USA)

Darren: I'm not so obsessed about meeting people anymore. I always wanted to meet Bono and I met him. I'm very grateful that I had the opportunity to speak to him, but it really humbled me. Of course I'd love to meet Madonna and Michael Jackson... but it's nice to have these people at a distance where they can still be special and still remain icons.

Daniel: There is no one I am desperate to meet.

Q: Do you guys have any pets? If so what are they? Darren, I know you have a puppy because I heard it on a recent TV interview. What breed is it and what is his/her name? And what about Daniel?

Darren: I have a Cockerspaniel named OB.

Daniel: I have one elderly dog.

Q: I was wondering who came up with the idea for the US version of the Truly Madly Deeply video? Was it Adolfo Doring? And what prompted you to use a new director? (Cindy Hopkins/USA and Fred/USA)

Darren: Daniel always said that he wanted to shoot a video in a European city like the INXS video, Never Tear Us Apart. Daniel and I wrote the original treatment for that video, the first US video that you never saw cost a fortune and just didn't work. So we got down to basics, told the director what we wanted and he filmed it.

Daniel: I came up with the original idea from seeing the INXS video Never Tear Us Apart which was shot in Prague. We found the European scenery very romantic and fitting to the emotion of the song. Paris was the obvious choice as it is the biggest romantic cliché in the world.
